

TULLIE

Values & Behaviours

We are ambitious

We aren't constrained by the classic museum stereotype. We reach beyond the expected, push boundaries and strive to share knowledge, redefining what a museum can be.

We are caring

We champion diversity, celebrate individuality, and nurture wellbeing. A museum is more than just the objects we care for – it's a home for connection, curiosity and acceptance.

We are collaborative

We recognise that expertise lies in every part of the organisation, and we value every voice, skill and perspective. We are open and honest, and believe that reflection is just as important as action.

We are resilient

As a museum and charity, we face a unique set of challenges and opportunities. We approach each obstacle with a quiet strength, working together to seek innovative solutions.

We are changemakers

We embrace our role in societal transformation. We advocate for positive change through the power of creativity, empathy and learning.

